

Stronger together

Gianfranco Sgro
Executive Vice President Contract Logistics

What a pleasure to talk to all of you.
A very special person said: "I love to travel, but I hate to arrive."
And I totally identify with that statement.

We have just concluded our strategic journey that starts almost five years ago with great success and we are now ready and engaged to start our new adventure.

Thank you for supporting me over these years through the greatest technological transformation we have ever made in contract and integrated logistics. Generating an outstanding customer service.

It is time now to build on our solid basis an extraordinary Kuehne+Nagel Experience for our customers and for us. Creating, building and nurturing trust amongst all of us will be the special ingredient to be added to our relentless focus on product and market development.

I'm very excited to start, and especially to start with you.
